What Is the Prophetic?

READ IN WEB • 1 Samuel 3:1–11 · John 16:13–14 · 1 Corinthians 14:1–5, 26–33

Servanthood before power

In the opening of the Prophetic Money teaching, the first question is about posture. Samuel hears his name and runs to Eli. His first explanation is understandable because Eli is the person he knows to answer. Eli eventually recognises what may be happening and teaches Samuel how to respond. Read the passage twice. On your second reading, mark what Samuel notices, what Eli helps him recognise, and what Samuel actually says to God. The story makes room for a learner to misunderstand and receive help.

Revelation, perception, discernment, response

God reveals. We perceive. We discern. We respond. Keep those four movements separate in your notes. A phrase that comes to mind in prayer is something you perceived. The thought that it concerns a specific person is an interpretation. Deciding to speak to that person is a response. You can record the first and remain open about the second and third. John 16:13–14 gives the direction of the Spirit’s work. He glorifies Christ. In 1 Corinthians 14, prophecy serves the strengthening, encouragement and comfort of the church, and others are asked to weigh what is spoken.

Grace, calling and responsibility

The conference uses grace, calling and government as teaching lenses. Read 1 Corinthians 14:1–5, Jeremiah 1:4–12 and Ephesians 4:11–14 side by side. Paul encourages believers to desire spiritual gifts. Jeremiah receives a particular assignment. Ephesians describes ministry gifts that equip the body. Participation in a gift, a sustained calling and responsibility for equipping others each raise different questions about formation, fruit and accountability.

Practice and reflection

Learn to name what you have

Dreams, images, words and impressions can feel different from one another. Begin with plain description. “I remembered a picture of a closed gate while praying” gives someone room to help you think. “God said the door to your marriage is closed” adds certainty, a subject and a directive that the picture itself never supplied. A familiar leader appearing in a dream could be relevant as a person, as someone associated with guidance, or as part of the dream’s ordinary setting. Keep possibilities open while you attend to the whole scene.

Practice · Weigh an impression

Imagine you remember the phrase “make room” while praying for your small group. Write the phrase exactly as you remember it. Offer two possible meanings, including an ordinary association. Read 1 Corinthians 14:29 and 1 Thessalonians 5:19–21. Identify who could help you weigh it and what a low-pressure response would look like. You might simply make space for quieter people to speak at your next meeting.

Journal and pray

Where do I tend to jump from noticing to announcing? Who can ask me a hard question about what I believe I heard? What would a Christ-centred response look like if I am still unsure?

Lord Jesus, teach me to hear with the posture of a servant. Give me humility to learn in community and patience to let what I perceive be weighed. Amen.

Scripture readings

1 Samuel 3:1–11

1 The child Samuel ministered to the LORD before Eli. The LORD's word was rare in those days. There were not many visions, then.

2 At that time, when Eli was laid down in his place (now his eyes had begun to grow dim, so that he could not see),

3 and God's lamp hadn't yet gone out, and Samuel had laid down in the LORD's temple where God's ark was,

4 The LORD called Samuel. He said, "Here I am."

5 He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am; for you called me." He said, "I didn't call. Lie down again." He went and lay down.

6 The LORD called yet again, "Samuel!" Samuel arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; for you called me." He answered, "I didn't call, my son. Lie down again."

7 Now Samuel didn't yet know the LORD, neither was the LORD's word yet revealed to him.

8 The LORD called Samuel again the third time. He arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; for you called me." Eli perceived that the LORD had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli said to Samuel, "Go, lie down. It shall be, if he calls you, that you shall say, 'Speak, LORD; for your servant hears.'" So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 The LORD came, and stood, and called as at other times, "Samuel! Samuel!" Then Samuel said, "Speak; for your servant hears."

11 The LORD said to Samuel, "Behold, I will do a thing in Israel at which both the ears of everyone who hears it will tingle.

John 16:13–14

13 However, when he, the Spirit of truth, has come, he will guide you into all truth, for he will not speak from himself; but whatever he hears, he will speak. He will declare to you things that are coming.

14 He will glorify me, for he will take from what is mine and will declare it to you.

1 Corinthians 14:1–5, 26–33

1 Follow after love and earnestly desire spiritual gifts, but especially that you may prophesy.

2 For he who speaks in another language speaks not to men, but to God, for no one understands, but in the Spirit he speaks mysteries.

3 But he who prophesies speaks to men for their edification, exhortation, and consolation.

4 He who speaks in another language edifies himself, but he who prophesies edifies the assembly.

1 Corinthians 14:1–5, 26–33 (continued)

5 Now I desire to have you all speak with other languages, but even more that you would prophesy. For he is greater who prophesies than he who speaks with other languages, unless he interprets, that the assembly may be built up.

26 What is it then, brothers? When you come together, each one of you has a psalm, has a teaching, has a revelation, has another language, or has an interpretation. Let all things be done to build each other up.

27 If any man speaks in another language, let there be two, or at the most three, and in turn; and let one interpret.

28 But if there is no interpreter, let him keep silent in the assembly, and let him speak to himself and to God.

29 Let two or three of the prophets speak, and let the others discern.

30 But if a revelation is made to another sitting by, let the first keep silent.

31 For you all can prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all may be exhorted.

32 The spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets,

33 for God is not a God of confusion but of peace, as in all the assemblies of the saints.

Jeremiah 1:4–12

4 Now the LORD’s word came to me, saying,

5 “Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you. Before you were born, I sanctified you. I have appointed you a prophet to the nations.”

6 Then I said, “Ah, Lord GOD! Behold, I don’t know how to speak; for I am a child.”

7 But the LORD said to me, “Don’t say, ‘I am a child;’ for you must go to whomever I send you, and you must say whatever I command you.

8 Don’t be afraid because of them, for I am with you to rescue you,” says the LORD.

9 Then the LORD stretched out his hand and touched my mouth. Then the LORD said to me, “Behold, I have put my words in your mouth.

10 Behold, I have today set you over the nations and over the kingdoms, to uproot and to tear down, to destroy and to overthrow, to build and to plant.”

11 Moreover the LORD’s word came to me, saying, “Jeremiah, what do you see?” I said, “I see a branch of an almond tree.”

12 Then the LORD said to me, “You have seen well; for I watch over my word to perform it.”

Ephesians 4:11–14

11 He gave some to be apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, shepherds and teachers;

12 for the perfecting of the saints, to the work of serving, to the building up of the body of Christ,

13 until we all attain to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to a full grown man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ,

14 that we may no longer be children, tossed back and forth and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, in craftiness, after the wiles of error;

1 Thessalonians 5:19–21

19 Don’t quench the Spirit.

20 Don’t despise prophecies.

21 Test all things, and hold firmly that which is good.
